MEET THE STAFF SPOTLIGHT

Riley Schmitz-Russell

It's hard to believe it's already been 6 years with Baldwin Lightstream! One of the things I love most about working here is having the opportunity to help people who need it. Knowing that I'm helping our customers stay connected with their family, friends, and loved ones makes my job rewarding. A customer's smile is contagious, and that's something I strive for every day!

With Thanksgiving right around the corner, I'm reminded of just how much I have to be grateful for. I'm especially thankful for my family, my health, and the opportunity to come to work each day and provide my kids with a wonderful life.

I'm grateful for the past six years and look forward to continuing to make a difference for our customers and community!

Thanksgiving: A Tradition of Gratitude

Thanksgiving has long been a time to gather with loved ones, share a meal, and reflect on what we're grateful for. The holiday is often traced back to a 1621 harvest gathering shared by the Pilgrims and the Wampanoag people. However, traditions of giving thanks for the harvest and life's blessings existed among Native American communities long before that gathering.

Over the years, Thanksgiving evolved into a national holiday centered around gratitude, family, and togetherness. In 1863, President Abraham Lincoln proclaimed a national day of Thanksgiving, encouraging Americans to reflect on their blessings during a difficult time in our nation's history.

As we celebrate this Thanksgiving, we encourage everyone to take a moment to appreciate the people, experiences, and little things that make life special. From all of us at Baldwin Lightstream, we are especially thankful for our customers, employees, and the wonderful communities we're proud to serve.

Wishing you and your family a happy and meaningful Thanksgiving!
